

Biggest Misconceptions Of CBD

GET THE FACTS

One of the biggest misconceptions is that CBD is made from Marijuana.

- ▶ Purest Form CBD comes from Hemp and NOT Marijuana. While both plants are of the cannabis family, Marijuana contains very little CBD compared to Hemp, which contains a large amount of CBD. Therefore, Marijuana is NOT a viable source for CBD. Marijuana contains a high volume of THC (10% to 30%) which is a psychoactive property that gives the user a “euphoric high”. Hemp does not have any psychoactive effects and cannot give the user a “high”. In Nature, Hemp has trace amounts of THC (0.30%) which is not enough to cause a “high”, however it is enough to possibly test positive for drugs. For this reason, Purest Form CBD goes an extra step in the lab to remove all trace elements of THC. This gives our customers piece of mind that the products we provide have zero% THC. For those individuals whose jobs require random drug screening, this is the perfect CBD product(s) for you!

Another misconception is that CBD is illegal.

- ▶ The Hemp Farming Act of 2018 was a proposed law to remove Hemp (defined as cannabis with less than .3% THC) from a Schedule I Controlled Substance classification, making it an ordinary agricultural commodity. Its provisions were incorporated in the 2018 United States Farm Bill that became law on December 20, 2018. Source: Wikipedia
- ▶ Industrial Hemp is legally grown in the United States and converted into Hemp Oil. Once extracted, the Oil is then processed, and CBD is isolated into a crystal form. This is the Purest Form of CBD. It is called CBD Isolate. Our CBD has gone through rigorous processing stages to completely extract any THC from the oil. Our CBD products are 100% Guaranteed to be THC Free. Tested and double tested by a 3rd party laboratory to ensure accuracy in potency, purity and THC Free.

Another misconception is that the benefits of Hemp is a something new.

- ▶ Thought to be among the first cultivated crops in human history, hemp was a staple in early America. As the United States earned its independence from Great Britain in the late 18th century, hemp remained a staple. George Washington and Thomas Jefferson grew cannabis on their plantations, and Benjamin Franklin started one of America's first paper mills with hemp. According to historians, the first drafts of the Declaration of Independence were written on hemp paper.
